I AM TOTALLY InZANE

People contact us from time to time asking if they can help ZANE and often they come up with some pretty harebrained schemes so we decided to start a whole new section of ZANE Australia called "I am Totally InZANE"!!

The founder of ZANE, Tom Benyon, has for many years now been doing an annual fund raising walk in the UK and has thereby raised an amazing A$4.3million for the charity. This absolutely tops the list of inZANE schemes in every way – Tom is in his mid seventies and has three artificial joints and still manages to notch up the thousands of miles and thousands of pounds while engaging in a wonderful blog.

With this incredible feat as our challenge, we would like to chronicle a few other events that InZANers have managed to pull off ▶

In 2016 Milly Sinclair, her two teenage sons and one nephew, completed the Three Peaks Challenge.

Five year old Ely and four year old Zac Benyon did a five mile three legged walk to see what it felt like walking with impediments to raise money for the club foot programme.

In 2017 an ex-Zimbabwean who lives outside Perth hosted a dinner for 96 people at her own home – she told us she thought she might have “bitten off more than she could chew”!! but she managed to raise nearly $7,000 for ZANE – a wonderfully inZANE thing to do!

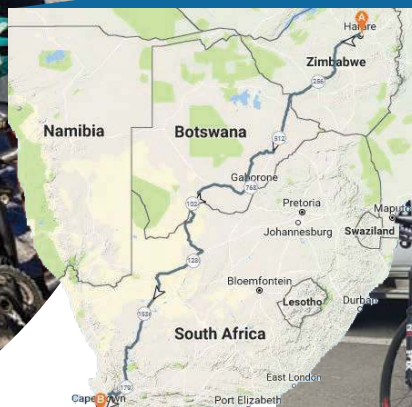

2018 has so far seen two more crazy undertakings:

Eric de Jong (58) and Bruce Fivas (65) completed their “Old Legs 2018 Tour” from Harare to Cape Town. Their initial contact to ZANE started with the words “in a moment of madness” which definitely puts their endeavor under the inZANE heading!

Their goal was to “use the ride as a platform to raise money and awareness for ZANE and the plight of the pensioners in Zimbabwe” and the amazing $50,000 they raised is testament to their success!

Appalachian Trail

The latest inZANE challenge is Mike Passaportis' attempt to complete the entire Appalachian Trail hike from Georgia to Maine – 2,190 miles or 3,524 kilometres in one go – the “thru-Hike” as it is known. He is just over half way and is well on course to finish by October when winter sets in and the Trail becomes impassable.

Padding from London to Derby

We have one more crazy event coming up: Bryn Price and fellow “madman” (his words!) Jo Amos, will be paddling – yes paddling - from London to Derby in time for the Rhodesians’ July Braai. This trip will be 265 km long with 3 tunnels, 2 aqueducts and 150 portages to navigate. It will take place from 22-26 July and a percentage of the proceeds will be given to ZANE.

Now, we are not expecting all of the friends of ZANE to match this level of madness, but here is an idea: we are betting that you probably have a cup of coffee and a cake fairly regularly – why not consider donating to ZANE the proceeds of just one of those outings on a monthly basis – $10 per month would not be missed, but if every person reading this would do it, we could add several thousand dollars a month to our income so, let’s do it fellow inZANERS!

If you would like to support these inZANE efforts by donating to ZANE please choose your preferred method below.

If you have a fundraising idea and want to become part of the inZANE project, we would love to hear from you so drop us a line on zaneaustralialimited@gmail.com.

With best wishes,

Nicky Passaportis (CEO ZANE Australia)
